

Aggregator Database Issues In Public Libraries: A Suggested Reading List

Bell, Steven J. (2001). "Dissecting Aggregator Exclusive Deals." D-Lib Magazine. v.7, no.7/8.

Bertot, J. C. and McClure, C.R. (2000). "Public Libraries and The Internet 2000; Summary Findings and Tables." Washington, D.C.: U.S. National Commission on Libraries and Information Science.

Bertot, J.C., McClure, C.R. and Ryan, J. (2001). "Statistics and Performance Measures for Public Library Networked Services." Chicago, IL: American Library Association.

Blosser, J., et al. "Aggregator Services Evaluation: Not An Easy Comparison." The Serials Librarian. v.41,no.1

Dennis, S.L. (1999). "Aggravating or aggregating? Providing Effective Access to Contents Aggregator Databases: A Reference Collection Development Librarian's Perspective." Cataloging & Classification Quarterly. v. 28,no.4.

Krumenaker, Larry. (2001). A Tempest In A Librarian's Teapot: EBSCO, ProQuest, Gale Exclusive and Unique Titles. Searcher. v. 9, no. 7. Available: <http://www.infotoday.com/searcher/>

Fallows, Deborah and Rainie, Lee (2004). "The Popularity and Importance of Search Engines." Pew/Internet. Data memo. August 2004.